Introduction

What is Capital IQ?

Capital IQ is a web and Excel-based finance and economics related research application delivered by Standard and Poor's. It archives historical data on firms, markets, certain transactions/trades, and leaders within firms around the world. It gives customers the information needed to investigate the essentials of organizations, assemble budgetary models, screen for worthwhile investment and/or transaction opportunities, and implement the needed research around these activities. This guide deals with the most often used tools in this software and is written for beginners. Capital IQ can be split into multiple sections as indicated by the Top Menu choices. The basic sections include My Capital IQ, Companies, Markets, Screening, Charting, Coverage. The additional sections are Projects, Alpha Factors, Real-Time, Structured Models and any additional custom add-ins. In this guide we describe the basic sections.

My Capital IQ

Directions: When you open Capital IQ from via the web login, the software signs you in and takes you to "My Capital IQ" page.

Each of the Capital IQ pages have the same format as described below.

1. Top Menu Bar: access to other components of Capital IQ, for example, "Companies", "Markets", "Screening", "Charting", "Coverage," and many more tabs.
2. Left Menu: rundown of the selected features from Top Menu Bar with sub-details.
3. Body: details the selected item with more information.

Key Functions

Companies

To search for a company, one can select either of the two ways:

1. Slide over the "Companies tab" in the Top Menu and select the "Search Profiles Companies"
2. Directly type the name of the company in the search box on the top of the My Capital IQ page.

Users are given a variety of options from which they can pick their desired industry organization to create their tear sheet.

The tear sheet page gives an organization's essential business information, industry classification, current and pending investors, office address, stock data, financial information, and present investors. The following is a screenshot of Amazon Inc's tear sheet:

The screenshot displays the S&P Capital IQ web application interface. On the left is a navigation menu with categories: Screening (Companies, Quick Screener, Equities, Fixed Income, Key Developments, People, Transactions, Projects, Projects/Portfolios, Saved Screens, Saved Templates, Screening Reports), Idea Generation Screens (Investment Banking, Investment Management, PE/VC, Corporate, Screening Lite, New and Newsworthy, All Idea Generation Screens), Targeting (Find Buyers, Find Limited Partners), Comparables (Create - Companies), and Charting (Chart Builder, Saved Charts). The main content area is titled 'Screening & Analytics' and features a search bar, a 'Select a project:' dropdown, and a list of screening options: Company Screening, Quick Screener, Equities Screening, Fixed Income Screening, Key Developments Screening, Person Screening, and Transaction Screening. A 'Go' button and 'Create New Project' button are also present. On the right, there is a section for 'Idea Generation Screens' with a list of options: Investment Banking, Investment Management, PE/VC, Corporate, Screening Lite, New and Newsworthy, and All Idea Generation Screens. At the bottom, a 'Comparable Company Analysis' table is shown with columns for 'Create Comp Sets' and 'By Searching'.

Report Builder

The Report Builder allows you to generate company reports as Word documents (including Excel and other formats as well). You can access “Report Builder” from a company's profile by clicking on Report Builder link. You can also access the Report Builder page by hovering over the My Capital IQ tab and clicking on Report Builder link.

If you choose, you can use one of Cap IQ's pre-defined Templates to build the report. These templates are (1) Quick Report: This report is a one page summary of a company; (2) tear sheet Report: This report includes a snapshot of the Company Profile including customized fields from the tear sheet; (3) CIQ Report: This report is a landscape view of general summary data on a company; (4) Summary Report: This report includes a general overview of each company; (5) Detailed Report: This report includes a more detailed overview of each company. You can also customize the templates by editing them and storing the changes into a new Template.

Click the Companies “Add/Edit” link to the right to include companies in the reports. This will show some pop-ups, which will allow you to add companies by ticker or company name, from Cap IQ lists or from market indices. The Report Categories and Fields section allows you to choose what information will be included in your report. Once you are ready to export your report, click “Generate Report” button.
